

Donna Krutz Moore is a make-up/hair artist in the faith based and family film industry. Her career started in Aug 2012 working as a make-up/hair assistant on the film "Touched by Grace" From her very first day on set, she fell in love with working in the film industry. Donna has since gone on to work on 14 feature films, the Fox News TV series Legends & Lies (Season 3 Civil War) and many other film projects. Donna believes her career in the film industry is a gift from God. Something He knew she would love before she even knew it was a possibility.

Donna first became interested in doing make-up after discovering make-up tutorials on YouTube, about 10 yrs ago. After doing make-up for a couple friends' weddings and some birthday parties God opened the door enabling Donna to start her path in the film industry.

Donna grew up in Delaware. Her mom was a stay at home mom and her dad worked for General Motors. On the side, her dad was a car mechanic and also did some drag racing. In honor of her dad, Donna would love to work on a racing film, to connect with her dad where his passion for racing and hers for working on films can meet.

In 1994 Donna and her husband Dan, newly married (7months) moved from Delaware to Virginia. A couple years after Donna and Dan moved to Virginia they started a family. They have four children, whose ages range from 14-21. Donna is thankful that she was able to stay home with her children and homeschool them. Her two oldest children, Danny (21) and Alicia (19) attend Bethany Global University, a missionary college. In 2018 her children will be heading to an undisclosed location to do missionary work for 16 months. Donna and Dan's youngest daughter, Hannah (14) absolutely loves horses and wants a career in the equestrian field. And their middle son, Garrett (17) plays on a homeschool football league. His team won the National Championships two years in a row being the number one homeschooling football team in the nation. After high school, Garrett wants to attend Virginia Tech to become an engineer like his dad.

Donna calls Virginia home but also enjoys traveling to wherever the jobs (or God) calls. She has worked on films in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Connecticut, Maryland, Texas and Pennsylvania. Traveling is one of the many things Donna loves about her job. Getting to meet lovely people, the excitement of a film set, seeing the finished projects, seeing her work on a dvd or movie poster, working as part of a team to create life changing stories, getting to go to places people don't normally get to go to, getting to work with make-up all day, and again meeting lovely people, Donna finds these all to be wonderful perks of the job.

Donna and her family attend their church services several times a week and have been attending for the past 20 years. Donna is also involved with a ministry called Sparrow Ranch on the Island, which is a ministry for people with special needs and their families.

Donna is blessed and truly honored to have the opportunities God has given her and for the people God has brought into her life. From her personal family, to film family, to church family, she has treasures that no money can buy.
