

More about this Episode

Meet Mimika : Mimika Cooney is a South African born Christian author, TV host, speaker, entrepreneur, international award winning photographer and Indie filmmaker. After experiencing severe rejection, bullying and a broken childhood; Mimika spent years in the pursuit of finding her worth, validation and confidence chasing achievements and accolades being addicted to approval. Then God stepped in to heal her hurts, change her heart and awaken a passion for helping others seeking their purpose in life.

Mimika devotes herself to the mission of empowering and equipping others to fulfill their God given purpose, and share their message with the world so they can make an impact for Christ.

Mimika is the founder of "The Worthy Revolution" which helps purpose driven, mission-minded women find their worth and identity in Christ; so they can impact the world through their stories, businesses and ministries.

Mimika is passionate about her sharing her story speaking, in interviews and in live workshops. Mimika is known for building community, creating connections and helping others tell their story with passion and purpose.

She provides branding and marketing resources (particularly for authors, speakers and entrepreneurs) using her 20 years of experience in digital marketing, branding, writing, website design, public relations, photography, TV broadcasting, and Video production.

Mimika is a seasoned interviewer having hosted her own web TV show and podcast since 2013. She is currently working on her third book due out in 2018.
